

Final Blessings and Warnings Session 24 ■ Extra Notes

Before we go any further, I want to let you know that you are already halfway through another series. [Hold up some of the brochures of the follow-up series and refer to some of them.]

At times through this series, we have referred to Daniel. You may remember that Jesus said we ought to understand Daniel. However, we have only touched on some parts of Daniel and there are a few more we could look at.

There are other areas we have referred to, such as:

The Gift of Prophecy: Does God still have prophets like John in today's church?

[It is recommended that the presenter show the group some of the follow-up lessons a few weeks before the last Revelation meeting, saying something like, "We do have more to come on this if you want to do them. We will be telling you more about this later on."

Display a few of the lessons and ask if they would like to continue on for a few more weeks to complete this series, which they are already halfway through. Hand out forms for them to fill in. Tell them you need to know who is going to continue so you can bring enough supplies. Once this is completed, commence the next part of the meeting.

Some presenters may wish to do the enrolling of those who will do the follow-up series over the last few meetings and not just the last.]

Our journey through the Book of Revelation has been a roller-coaster ride filled with war, famine, pestilence, wild beasts, earthquakes and scorching fire. Through it all, we have tried to maintain a focus on the book's primary theme, the revelation of Jesus Christ. The plagues of the book are a demonstration of His power to save. So it is not totally out of character for an action/adventure book, such as Revelation, to end with grace. Grace is a special manifestation of the divine presence and power: an expression of kindness, mercy and good will.

[The presenter should begin to go through the rest of the lesson, which is a summary of what has been studied in the series so far.]
